CRONIN'S BOBY SAID TO HAVE BEEN FOUND IN CHICAGO.

Australian Election System Adopted in Illinois - Cook County Hospital Horrors.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.] MURDER WILL OUT.

The Mutilated Remains of Missing Dr Cronin Found in Chicago. CHICAGO, May 22d.—The latest sensation in the Cronin case came to the fore late this afternoon, when a telephone message from the Lake View police station announced that a body supposed to be that of the missing Dr. Cronin had been tound in a sewer near the Marine Hospital tal.

The body was wrapped in cotton similar to that found in the trunk which Woodruff claims to have thrown away in Lake View after a body was removed from it by his two companions.

was removed from it by his two companions.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

Chicago, May 22d.—The dead body of Dr. Cronin, the Irish-American who strangely disappeared from his home in Chicago two weeks ago, was found this evening some distance north of the city in a sewer on Evanston avenue.

A bloody towel was wrapped about him, but the body was stark naked. A Catholic emblem which the doctor always wore next his skin and suspended about his neck was untouched. On his head were a dozen cuts, which had severed the scalp and indented the skull.

The opinion of the police is that Cronin was foully murdered. Much excitement was shown at detective headquarters, when all doubt as to the identity was removed by definite messages from Lake View. It was evident from the expressions of the police that one of the first objects will have to be an explanation of the assertions by supposed friends of Cronin. Lieut. Elliott, Chief of Detectives, will have these people at the inquest and demand an explanation full and complete. The detectives claim that they have been handicapped from the start by lack of assistance from those who claimed to know all concerning the doctor's disappearance.

"I will have this information now," said Elliott. "There will be a number of prompt arrests."

Wholly accidental circumstances brought the corpse to light. A gang of laborers who were cleaning ditches along Evanston avenue and Fitty-nint street a strong smell of putrid flesh. One of the men pried off the cover of a catchbasin at the corner and there discovered the corpse. It had apparently been hastily pitched into the basin, as the head was underneath the feet and legs in the opening.

This basin is located nearly a mile from where the mysterious blood-stained trunk was found on the day after Cronin's, disappearance. It seems altogether remarkable that it was not sooner discovered, for the Lake View police started out to search all the catch-basins in that suburb a week after the trunk was found. One of the searchers said to-night that they had mis FURTHER PARTICULARS.

May and December.

Weston (W. Va.). May 27d.—A novel and quite singular marriage has just been brought to light which was celebrated in New York city on April 20th. The contracting parties reside in Lewis and Harrison counties, respectively, and the disparity of their ages as well as the near relationship existing between them has occasioned no little amusement among friends. The groom is a wealthy old bachelor who has seen not less than 75 summers, while the bride is a handsome blonde of 25. The gallant lover is the great uncle of his youthful spouse, and his marriage to her makes his wife the aunt of her father, the great aunt of her sister and the daughter-in-law of her father's grandfather. She is her own great aunt by marriage, the aunt of her mother and her first cousin's great aunt.

The body was immediately taken to the Lakeview Morgue, and within an hour a dozen of Cronin's friends were at the Morgue. They were quite sure it was that of the missing doctor, and their opinions were verified later by T. T Conklin, with whom Cronin lived, and also by others.

Dr. Brandt, who examined the body, said that the blows on the head must have been inflicted by some sharp instrument.

There would seem to be no possibility of doubt as to the identification of the body. Among many others who expressed a positive opinion in regard to it was a dentist who recently worked on Cronin's teeth, and also a man who for years has been Cronin's tailor.

It is thought that Cronin's body was carried in the mysterious blood-steined true. It is thought that Cronin's body was carried in the mysterious blood-stained trunk. There was cotton found about the feet and under the thin of the corpse of the same quality as that found in the trunk, and threads of clothing found in the trunk correspond in appearance with the threads of the towel wrapped about Cronin's head.

The body was much swelled and in an advanced state of decomposition, owing to its long stay under water in the catch-basin.

The man Woodruff, or Black, who after arrest confessed to having helped carry off the trunk containing the corpse, which he claimed was that of a woman, from a barn in the city on the night of Cronin's disappearance, was interviewed to-night in jail. He manifested no surprise when told of the discovery, but while talking freely about the matter he seems careful not to go outside of the story he had origin any told. He repeatedly said that if he had not been locked up in jail he could and would have cleared up the mystery before this time.

Alexander Sullivan, ex-President of the National League, was horror-stricken to-night when told of the discovery of Cronin's body. He was at a loss what to say, further than that he was dimbfounded, as he believed ail along that Dr. Cronin would turn up all right in the course of time. He had no theories whatever or evidence as to the probable cause of the Cronin murder.

In reference to the statement, made by some The body was much swelled and in an advanced state of decomposition, owing to its long nin murder.

In reference to the statement made by some of Croniu's friends at the time of the latter's disappearance, that he (Sullivan) knew more about the matter than he cared to tell, Mr. Sullivan said he had treated that report with contempt at the time, and had nothing else for it now. He added that he was horrified to hear of the murder, and will do everything in his power to help place the guilty persons where they belong.

Shortly after the news of the finding of the shortly after the news of the finding of the body was received a reporter called on Mrs. Conklin at her heme where the doctor resided. When informed of the finding of the body she said that she was not surprised, that she had always said that he was murdered.

"You will," said the reporter, "undoubtedly give the police the benefit of your knowledge concerning the doctor's enemies, to aid them in finding the murderers?"

concerning the doctor's enemies, to aid them in finding the murderers?"
"I don't know that I will," she replied. "They seem to know so much that they won't appreciate what I can tell them," and Mrs. Conklin shut the door.

Her husband had an interview with the police Captain late to night, but the officials deny that he gave them any imformation of importance. Conklin would not talk to the reporters.

HOSPITAL HORRORS.

Investigation Into the Atrocities of Illinois Public Officials.

CHICAGO, May 22d.—In the inquiry as to the state of affairs in the Cook County Insane Asylum to-day, Dr. Clevenger, formerly a member of the medical staff there, testified that it was impossible for a reputable practitioner or attendant to stay there. The most disreputable ones were the ones to stay, because they devoted more time to intrigue. They also practiced a system of elimination of the better element, either by physical violence or other nent, either by physical violence or other 'In 1886," said the doctor, "the physicians "In 1886," said the doctor, "the physicians who secured bodies at the asylum for dissection at the Rush Medical College, told me that the bodies were so covered with vermin that they had to be scorched before being placed on the

had to be scorched before being placed on the dissecting-table."

"Once, in 1885, I heard screams of pain, and running from my office I found two attendants standing over a patient who was bleeding profusely. I knew there was no use in making any complaint, as the e attendants were supported by influence on the County Board Soon after, they refused to obey my orders. They secreted bodies on which I desired to hold post-mortem examinations, and I could not get them for two or three days after they were buried.

"I published a statement, and the following night one of the attendants abused me. A few moments later a shot was fired down the stairs. A bullet crashed through the floor and lodged in my book-case. Soon after this, I resigned."

"What is the matter with the institution now?" asked an attorney.

"What is the matter with the institution now?" asked an attorney.

"It is under the influence of hoodlumism," replied the doctor. "It is in a bad place, and on unsalubrious grounds. There should be two buildings, one for male and one for female patients. Then the County Board should be kicked out and the asylum put in the hands of a State Commission."

out and the asylum put in the hands of a State Commission."

Dr. Clevenger told how boodlers had prevented an investigation. Even ministers of the gospel were afraid of the boodlers who occupied seats in their churches. He said there had been repeated testimony that vermin abounded in the wards, and Dr. Kohler, and assistant physician, found maggots in the wounds of neglected patients in 1884.

Bed-bugs would torture patients under their straight-jackets, and rats would mutilate the bodies of those who had died unattended during the night. Male attendants were usually appointed by the County Commissioners for their fighting abilities at the polls at election time. Brawls, drunkenness, oaths, incessant alarms, pistol shooting, immorality, stealing, etc., exerted a very depressing influence on the decent officials there, and caused them to waste much of their energy in keeping out of rows. The County Board's financial reports were falsified and confused in a variety of ways, and often the expression "general expenses" would cover a thousand dollars or more of unaccounted for bills. Everything was done to make an apparent showing of external cleanliness, but the whitewashing and the flowers and well-kept lawn constituted the place a whited sepulcher.

CHECKERED CAREER.

A Reformed Criminal Ends Life With a Good Name.

Worcester, May 22d.—Lucius W. Pond died this morning, aged 53, of bowel troubles. He was for many years a manufacturer of machinists' tools, the most prominent member of the Laurel-street Methodist Church, held several city offices, and was Republican State Senator for three years. Until October, 1875, he was generally looked upon as a prosperous business man and a model of integrity. When the hard times of 1873 came, he found his business ill-prepared to meet a period of depression, but he carried it on until October, 1875, when he suddenly left for New York, ostensibly on business. All trace of him was lost after he took the sound steamer, except that his valise and coatwere found in the stateroom. It was supposed that he had committed suicide.

Startling developments followed, and the men who had indorsed for him soon found notes that had been paid again turning up. Pond had been in the habit of washing out the writing on notes that had been paid, by chemical preparations, and filling in the face with new dates and new amounts. These were placed in banks for discount and readily accepted. Not only the banks but Fond's personal friends were victimized by these washed notes. While his forgeries amounted to a great many thousands, all those who suffered did not tell their losses.

Detectives were set at work, and Pond was finally found stepping aboard the steamer at San Francisco for Australia. He was brought to Worcester in the spring of 1876, convicted of forgery, and sentenced to fitfeen years' imprisonment. Notwithstanding his crime he retained a great hold upon the affections of many church and business men, and in a few years a strong effort was made for a pardon. This failed, but on December 26, 1882, his pardon by Governor Long was announced. He returned to Worcester, and was welcomed by some of the best citizens, who, after he had worked at his trade a few months, furnished him with money to establish a machine and tool shop. Foint, a few miles east. Eight lives are reported lost.

The Cynthia was a freighter, inward bound from Glasgow. The Polynesian was outward bound with freight and passengers for Liverpool. Immediately after the collision the Cynthia sank in twelve fathoms. The survivors from the Cynthia swam ashore. The Polynesian proceeded to Quebec in a damaged condition.

The accident was the result of a misunderstanding of signals for passing at a dangerous curve in the channel. Following is a list of the crew of the Cynthia who lost their lives: Hugh Irving, chief cook: Alexander Nicholas, a sailor; Andrew Vance, Charles McCracken, trimmers; James Ferron, boatswain; Jas. Low, fireman; Charles Blackstrack, messenger boy, and David Young, a stowaway from Glasgow.

The blame is laid at the door of the Polynesian, and her officers are much blamed for not stopping to render assistance. New York, May 22d.—In the Presbyterian General Assembly to-day the Committee on Bills and Overtures reported that the committee received overtures from fifteen Presbyteries asking a revision of the Confession of Fatth. The committee considered the best request coming from so many Presbyteries should not have been ignored, yet thought the Assembly should not take action on the matter at present. They suggested that a communication be addressed to each of the Presbyteries in the Assembly, asking if they desired a revision, and if so to what extent. The matter was made a special order for Friday afternoon.

The report of the Board of Foreign Missions showed the work, on the whole, was prosperous, with no unusual obstacles. More money is needed to meet the growing demands. Dhuleep Singhand His English Bride Off For Russia. Paris, May 22d.—Ex Maharajah Dhuleer Singh and his English bride left to-day to spend their honeymoon in Russia. The wedding cer-emony was strictly private and only attended by a few friends of the bride and bridegroom. by a few friends of the bride and bridegroom. The courtship was a short one. Barely six months have elapsed since the couple first met in the drawing-room of a house here. The marriage took place in the office of the Mayor of the Eighth Arrondissement.

The bride is a young and good looking lady. She wore a lavender-colored traveling costume and orange blossoms, and figured in the register as a daughter of the late B. D. Wetherill and of Sarah, his wife, both of Hampshire, England. When the nuptial knot was duly tied Mayor Girt, with his tricolor scarf of office, addressed a brief hymeneal homily to the bride and bridegroom, and the proceedings were then explained in English to the Maharajah, who cannot speak French. After this the Mayor read a kind of address to the bridegroom, in which his Honor showed that he was evidently suffering from a mild form of Anglophobia.

That platform, he said, would enable them to build up Ireland as a nation without danger to the empire.

Mr. Gladstone, in reply, referred to his wife as the greatest gift he had received at the hand of Providence. He said that the generous estimate of his services by his countrymen had been mixed with some censure, but it was better to lose praise than to lose the bravery and dis-

Washington, May 22d.—The story is afloat here that England is determined to protect illicit sealing vessels flying the British flag from seizure and condemnation by the United States under the provisions of the recent proclamation issued by President Harrison.

The report goes that the Thetis of the navy and the Bear and Rush of the revenue marine have been ordered to proceed at once to Alaskan waters to head off intruders and to keep peace or preserve the proclamation at all hazards. CINCINNATI, May 22d .- The third day at Latolarge, but the track slow. A serious blunder oc-curred during the afternoon, when the field was sent away in the Merchants' Stakes by starter Sheridan, and the race run without any of the judges being in the stand, and the error was not discovered until the jockeys came back to weigh out and found no one in the stand to acknow-ledge them. The judges announced all bets off on the race, and decided that it must be run over again. The favorite was Montrose in the first ran, but switched to the Chicago-stable en-try in the second run. The Thetis has been ordered to cruise around Point Revenue to give all possible aid in the experience of the proclamation.

The surveyors have already almost completed their labors from Marysville to this place and the graders are following as rapidly as a force of twenty-five can construct the n the ground soon. Mr. Fret, a San Francisco capitalist, who largely interested here, has a building already under way which he promises shall be second to none north of Sacra mento. It will be constructed of brick and an elegant opera house, while the first floor will be used for stores. It is situated across the road from the hotel on California

THE ADVENTISTS.

Another Evening at the Big Tent—Last Night's Discourse.

At the tent of the Seventh Day Adventists, at Fifteenth and M streets, last evening, the speaker based his remarks on John xiv., 2, 3: "I go to prepare a place for you, and if I go and prepare a place for you,

with these explanations, let me sum up as follows:

Firet—We are simply buyers of saw-logs, cord wood, railroad ties, material for wood pulp, etc. Second—We only ask the privilege of constructing a "highway" in accordance with the law of the last Legislature compelling us to take such action, and we ask the privilege of charging moderate tolls for the use of this highway by those who choose to use it, and by which your citizens may, while clearing their lands, bring their otherwise valueless wood products profitably to market, and carry back to your county the money received therefor.

Third—We do not own either lands or timber along this highway, nor would we invest the enormous amount of capital which would be required to either control or own them.

Fourth—We do not ask for any ownership or control of the water, nor for any right to divert that will in any way interfere with control or any right that will in any way interfere with control or the results of the same way interfere with control or the same way in the results of the water, nor for any right that will in any way interfere with control or the same way in the work way in the w

This is the proposition of the company. and it is one that is to be looked at from a standpoint of loss and gain to the county. We have heretofore opposed the granting of the franchise because we want it thoroughly investigated, and because we fail to see where the people are to gain by it, even if the franchise is drawn so as to permit no vexatious control over the waters of the stream. It is not the duty of the Superstream. It is not the duty of the Supervisors to grant such privileges unless our own people are to be benefited, for the Board is not expected to look out for the interests of this wood company. If the company of the county seems of this wood company. If the company is the county seems of this wood company. If the county seems of this wood company is the county seems of this wood company. If the county seems of this wood company is the county seems of this wood company. If the county seems of this wood company is the county seems of the co and increasing our assessment roll, it would be entitled to much encouragement, but there seems to be no general benefit beyond the fact that owners of timber land along the river will be afforded a market. It has been our observation that this land GENERAL AUCTIONEER has been obtained very largely by non-residents, and the probabilities are that in case the river is opened to float logs, the timber will be slid out of the county, and much of the land denuded of its most valuable feature without any increase in the prosperity of our citizens. We are not a mere obstructionist, and if the timber can be reached in no other way that will be more generally profitably to the county, and if the rights of all who derive benefit from the stream can be protected, we prefer that the timber should reach a market rather than have it go to waste. It will be grade. Four miles are now ready for ties the duty of the Supervisors to investigate and iron. presented. Death was caused by the heart having been pierced by a bullet. Witness identified the bullets taken from the body. Beside the bullet-wounds, there was a slight abrasion on the bridge of the nose.

To Mr. Johnson witness said he identified a document embracing the additional and bear door, and then stored the barn together when Billings came; the latter got there ahead; Mr. Lighthall was on one side of the wagon and Frank on the other; Frank shut the barn door, and then To Mr. Johnson witness said he identified a document embracing the report of his autopsy held on the body of the deceased, as made to the Corner. He said the reas made to the Coroner. He said the re-

Francis D. Lighthall was his side of the same day and told her mother the particulars. Francis D. Lighthall was his son. [Wit-Francis D. Lighthall was his son. He said he never had seen the defendant and his son Otis would pay; witness placed his hand on but was not much acquainted with them would pay; witness placed his hand on Billings' breast and told him not to meddle with anything until he hadsettled. He drew a club from his wagon and struck witness, his son at the same time leaping from the wagon and also assaulting witness with a club. Witness then seized a stick and attacked young Billings. Did not know where his son, the deceased, was at that moment. Heard a noise in another direction, and saw the defendant in the act of shooting witness' son; was "stunned" but was not much acquainted with them. Witness was questioned regarding what occurred at the ranch on the Tuesday prior to the tragedy. There was a conversation relating to the proposed removal of the Lighthalls. Billings said he wanted them to go, but Lighthalls aid he would not go without being paid his money. Billings said he thought the question of the hour of the concerts—that is, the opening and closing hours—ought to be decided, as people were very anxious on that point. He suggested that 7 or halfof shooting witness' son; was "stunned" for the moment, and could not do anything. The horses ran away, and the elder Billings ran after and stopped them. He then came back and covered witness with his pistol. Young Billings here declared to his father, that there was the moment to his father that there must be no more shooting. Turned to my son, and found he was dead. Young Billings assisted witness in carrying him into the house.

Two clubs were here shown witness, which he identified as the ones used in the assault referred to, at the same time exhibiting considerable emotion. Witness, resuming, said he had seen

Billings on three separate days during the week prior to the tragedy. Saw him the day preceding it. Had made arrangements for leaving the ranch. Had a discussion relating to the matter; we were to leave the place. Billings came to the ranch and offered to pay witness $125 to leave the place. [The last sentence ordered stricken Billings was accompanied by his son. There were present the witness, Mrs. Hildreth and her little girl. Witness demanded the money, but Billings undertook to place the furniture on the wagon to move it away. It was already packed for removal, except the stove.

[Objected to and objection overruled:]
One of the teams brought by Billings had been purchased by witness of defendant for $225, but which had not been paid. Witness objected to Billings taking the horses away. George Lighthall came dur-ing Billings' visit, and at the request of witness went to his father's house and returned with the $225, which was paid to Billings, who surrendered witness' note. Cross-examined by Mr. Johnson-Wit ness did not remember in what month he went on the Billings place; it was not under a lease, but had an arrangement with Billings. There was afterwards a lease, in which Francis D. Lighthall and Francis Hildreth were interested. On the occasion of two of Billings' visits he came after bay; had been away from the ranch some of the time between last fall and the time of the tragedy; worked in the vicinity of Courtland; reached the Billings ranch the Sunday before the shooting; had not been away from the place at any other time. When witness got home Mrs. Hil dreth and daughter were on the ranch. The arrangement for moving away was made with Billings on the day before the difficulty. Witness and son called on Billings on the day the former returned from Courtland.

Here the prosecution objected, and Mr.

Johnson argued at length in support of the right of the defense to go fully into the matter of all the business relations between the witness and defendant, to which the prosecution finally consented, with the understanding that it should not be considered a part of the direct case of the process. ered a part of the direct case of the proseered a part of the direct case of the prose-cution, which should reserve the right to go more fully into it at a later period in the tried the trial. Witness then said to him not to meddle with anything on the place until he had settled with witness; something was esid by Billings about the lock.

FALSE HOPES CRUSHED. The Alaskan Crew Not All Saved, After

Pertiand, May 23d.—Owing to the various telegraphic dispatches which have been received concerning the alleged landing of a second boat at Cape Perpetua, the public has been led into believing that a greater number of the Alaskan's people were saved than in reality reached shore. Alaskan's people were saved than in reality reached shore.

Mr. O'Brien, of the O. R. and N. Company, said: "I leit Florence yesterday morning with my party of ten men and reached Yaquina just at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The dispatch received here in Portland was of course calculated to mislead all who read it, as it was thought that ours was another crowd than the one it was. There has been but one boat saved, and the supposition is, of course, that all the rest have perished. I am the messenger sent out by the O. R. and N. Company, and I found the men at Florence in a very sad condition. The people there were very kind, though, in assisting me to make them comfortable. They had lost their shoes and clothing, but I soon got them re-outfitted in good clothes."

SHOT AT A WOMAN. Michael Hawkins Attempts to Kill Mrs.

Donahue in San Francisco. SAN FRANCISCO, May 22d,—Considerable of a sensation was created on Montgomery street, near Sacramento street, about 11:30 o'clock this morning, when Michael Hawkins fired at and attempted to kill Mrs. Peter Donahue. The ball miscarried and lodged in a building opposite, Mrs. Donahue escaping unharmed. The assault occurred on the street just as the lady had entered her cerries. Hawkins, it appears, is a cousin of Mrs. Dona-hue, and there has been some financial trouble between the two. Hawkins was worsted in the Courts, and then determined to kill the suc cessful litigant.

Mrs. Donahue throughout the ordeal conducted herself in a cool and collected manner, and as her assailant was taken to prison she drove home in a perfect state of serenity.

It resulted in Perasich stabbing Lacy with a jack-knife in the abdomen in the right side, from which he is not expected to recover. Perasich jumped a mining claim of the Contention Mining Company, and the matter went to litigation. To-day judgment was rendered against Perasich in the District Court. Immediately after the rendition of judgment, words ensued between the parties in the main hallway of the Court house, where the stabbing occurred before several witnesses. Perasich was at once arrested, and is now in jail. Lacy is much respected in this community, and the public sentiment is in his favor. TOMBSTONE (A. T.), May 22d .- At 1 P. In the second round Lees was still on the defensive, seemingly satisfied to avoid punishment. His blows had no effect on McAuliffe.

In the third round Lees braced up, but failed to do any damage. In the next four rounds Lees continued his first tactics, remaining on the defensive and receiving severe punishment. He failed in nearly every effort to reach McAuliffe, and simply made the best of a losing fight.

In the eighth round McAuliffe reached Lees jaw with a right-hander, and floored him. Another similar result followed when Lees rose to his feet. After the second knock-down he was unable to rise on the call of time, and McAuliffe was declared the winner.

Henrich of Madison intends to remove his ice works and meat-packing establishment to the new town and enlarge the capacity of both branches. Abe Haines of Madison will also remove his merchandise business to Esperanza. As an evidence that the railroad company means business in extending the railroad to Lake and Mendocino counties they have ust finished graveling the road as far as built, making it one of the most substantial roads in the State. The supposition is that the road will be extended into Lake this summer, and should Esperanza be made the lumber depot for the Coast Lumber Company it is bound to become a town of much importance to Yolo county, in fact it may become the second town in the county. The railroad is also becoming a boom to Capay, and that beautiful little town has no reason to regret its advent. There is scarcely a vacant house in the town and business appears to be good.
